

The 2nd LION-ESS

Live International Endoscopic Sinus Surgery Broadcast

Live FESS Surgery from

University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia (USA)

Wexner Medical Centre
Ohio State University (USA)

University Clinic
Barcelona (Spain)

University of Insubria
Varese (Italy)

McGill University
Montreal (Canada)

The Herslanden Clinic
Zurich (Switzerland)

Hygeia Hospital
Athens (Greece)

Monday, March 6th
2017

Join us for the largest global Broadcast in Rhinology on Endoscopic Sinus Surgery !

The LION Foundation is proud to announce the 2nd LION-ESS Broadcast. An initiative by a group of distinguished Endoscopic Sinus and Skull Base Surgeons. Using the highly successful LION platform a similar live surgical workshop in Rhinology has been set up in 2015.

The international experts will perform live endoscopic Sinus and Skull Base surgical procedures in their own centre, which will be moderated and streamed, live on the Internet. The international moderators will be based in Utrecht, (The Netherlands).

Surgeons of the 2nd LION-ESS (from their own Institution):

Daniel Simmen (Zurich - Switzerland)

Jim Palmer (Philadelphia - USA)

Ricardo Carrau (Columbus - USA)

Daniel Prevedello (Columbus - USA)

Manuel Bernal-Spekelsen (Barcelona - Spain)

Paolo Castelnovo (Varese - Italy)

Christos Georgalas (Athens - Greece)

Mark Tewfik (Montreal - Canada)

Moderator (from Utrecht):

Ashok Rokade (Winchester - UK)

The LION-ESS organizing committee:
(in collaboration with LION Foundation)

Mr Ashok Rokade, MS, FRCS (Winchester - UK)
Mr Christos Georgalas (Athens - Greece)

The final program of the 2nd LION-ESS Broadcast will be presented to you shortly within next few weeks. Please check our website regularly for more information: .

www.lion-web.org